

Publishing in the Australasian Journal of Engineering Education

Sally Male^a, Scott Daniel^b, Rosalie Goldsmith^b, and Sasha Nikolic^c
University of Melbourne^a, University of Technology Sydney^b, University of Wollongong^c
Corresponding Facilitator's Email: sally.male@unimelb.edu.au

The Australasian Journal of Engineering Education (AJEE) is AAEE's journal. AJEE publishes research to inform high quality engineering education in Australasia and internationally, and is ranked Q1.

WORKSHOP MODE

This workshop will be facilitated in-person.

OVERVIEW OF WORKSHOP

In this workshop, members of the Editorial Team of AJEE will outline the Journal's Aims and Scope, and submission and review processes, and facilitate discussions on publishing.

ACTIVITIES

In this interactive session, participants will be led in a discussion about AJEE, the review process, and how to write for publication, including responding to reviewers' comments, and attributes of outstanding papers.

TARGET AUDIENCE

New and published researchers in engineering education who are considering publishing in AJEE are welcome to attend this workshop.

OUTCOMES

Participants will have a clear understanding of the scope, submission and review processes of AJEE. Participants will be equipped to enhance the quality of their manuscripts for publication.

KEYWORDS

journals, publishing, engineering education

FACILITATORS' BACKGROUNDS

This workshop will be facilitated by highly experienced members of the Editorial Team of AJEE: Editor-in-Chief, Sally Male; Deputy Editor, Scott Daniel; and Associate Editors, Rosalie Goldsmith, and Sasha Nikolic.